Finding it hard to compare
Workforce Management Solutions?

When comparing WFM systems, it's important you understand what the latest digital solutions have to offer.

So, how should a workforce management platform make your job easier? Here are some of the core features and benefits you should look for when evaluating your next workforce management system.

Verification

☐ Collects and verifies supplied documents and information so you don't have to.

☐ Provides simple and accessible rules about what documents will be accepted to work for you.

Worker Competency Management

☐ Matches set work roles with the skills and training required to work for you.

☐ Pairs online profiles with access ID cards – a competent worker's passport to access your sites.

System Integration

☐ Can integrate multiple systems via API's for one source of truth.

☐ Provides access to data from all systems in one, so you don't need to juggle multiple platforms and duplication of data.

Full-Cycle Compliance

☐ Provides a complete onboarding and change management process to have your workforce engaged and verified.

☐ Enables ongoing auto-reminders and online and call centre support to keep your workforce updated, safe, and compliant.

Pre-Qualify Contracting Companies

☐ Categorises companies by their risk so you can manage yours.

☐ Sets clear standards and collects, verifies, and audits in accordance with Safety Standards.

Mobile App

☐ Links to the company and worker data in your workforce management system.

☐ Provides instant, live access to log workers in and out of site, check their compliance, and emergency evacuations and fatigue checks.

Induction and Learning Management

☐ Connects inductions and training to your specific work roles and sites.

☐ Enables you to plan and report on training to keep your workforce safe and skilled.

Insight, Analytics and Reporting

- Empowers you to report, analyse, and make decisions from the information in your workforce management system.

- Provides a holistic view of your operations and insight into every worker and company to plan for business success.

Site Access

- Connects physical and digital site access points to data in your workforce management system.

- Allows only competent and verified workers and assets on site, restricting access to those who are not.

The industry leader, Pegasus has over thirty years experience customising workforce management solutions for the mining industry.
